Medical Assisting Associate Degree

According to Commission on the Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs (CAAHEP), accredited programs in Medical Assisting must be periodically assessed for effectiveness in achieving their stated goals and learning domains. The results of this evaluation must be reflected in the review and timely revision of the program. The program must meet defined outcomes and assessment thresholds.

For the 2022 Medical Assisting Education Review Board (MAERB) Annual Report, Bryant & Stratton College submitted the total number of Medical Assisting graduates who participated in and passed a national medical assisting certification exam. Bryant & Stratton College graduates performed at 81% passing rate.
